FEI Updates

FEI Vaccination Requirements – FEI HorseApp

As of January 2026, the digital registration of vaccination details will be enforced.

If an FEI Horse is presented at an FEI Event in 2026 without valid equine influenza vaccination details correctly* registered in the FEI HorseApp, the Person Responsible will be sanctioned in accordance with Art. 1002 of the FEI Veterinary Regulations.

Reminder that all new vaccination details must be registered in the FEI HorseApp by a veterinarian on the day of vaccination and in presence of the horse.*

As of 1 July 2026:

- From 1 July 2026, if a horse is presented at an FEI Event without its equine influenza vaccination details correctly registered in the FEI HorseApp, the Person Responsible (the Athlete) will be notified of their sanction and receive a fine in accordance with the FEI Veterinary Regulations.
- Fines will be issued to the National Federation of the Person Responsible.

Information about the FEI vaccination module remains available here.

FEI Out of Competition Anti-Doping Testing – Horses

The FEI will be implementing the Equine Out-of-Competition Anti-Doping Testing in Endurance for the 2026 competition year—an important development that underscores our shared commitment to fairness, horse welfare, and excellence both in and out of the competition.

While the legal framework for Equine Out-of-Competition Anti-Doping Testing applies to all disciplines, Endurance will be the first discipline to implement it.

In 2026 a number of Endurance horses will be selected to be part of a Testing Pool. These horses will take part in targeted anti-doping testing.

A newly developed feature in the FEI HorseApp will facilitate the process.

Please see the FAQ document that explains the Equine Out-of-Competition Anti-Doping Testing, related Whereabouts requirements and consequences of non-compliance.

USEF Updates

New World Screwworm: What Horse Owners Need to Know

On September 9, 2026, the first equine case of New World Screwworm (NWS) as part of the 2026 incursion was detected on a hind limb of a working ranch horse in Presidio County, Texas. NWS is a serious parasite that can infest wounds in horses and other warm-blooded animals. Because the larvae feed on living tissue, even small cuts or sores should be cleaned, protected, and checked closely until they are fully healed. See here for more information.

US Equestrian Offers Resources for Mental Health and Reporting Misconduct

US Equestrian is committed to the safety and wellness of our participants – horse and human. Part of this commitment is having resources in place to support mental wellness for a wide variety of issues, in addition to abuse prevention and reporting. We want to take this opportunity to remind you of the resources you can access.

Mental Health Resources

As part of our commitment to members and to their wellbeing, US Equestrian has partnered with the McLaughlin Young Group to offer members free confidential counseling services for mental health first aid.

US Equestrian members can access professional counseling services for personal, work-related, and family concerns for up to three visits or sessions through a third-party licensed provider.

All providers are state licensed with a graduate degree and five years of post-graduate clinical experience. These experienced professional clinicians are available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and 365 days a year.

Members can reach a counselor by calling 1-800-633-3353.

See here for more information.

US Equestrian Publishes Welfare Guidelines to Support Horses' Physical and Mental Well-Being

When US Equestrian implemented the expanded Unethical Treatment of Horses rule (GR838) last year, it empowered the organization and its licensed officials to take action in cases of unethical treatment of horses, on show grounds and off. We quickly realized we needed to provide more examples and context for horse welfare best practices in training and competition. Earlier this fall, we released a series of Horse Welfare Guidelines that we hope will serve as a basis for improved physical and mental well-being of the equine partners we all love and respect.

See here for more information.
